AUSTRALIA'S WILDERNESS ADVENTURE MAGAZINE

EXOFFICIO RAIN LOGIC $249.95

This jacket has a very feminine cut, meaning it's slightly bigger around the hips, but it's not so big that it interferes with a backpack's hip belt. The pit zips are dual-zip, so you can control the amount of ventilation you get depending on intensity of movement. The drawcords are all well-hidden and tuck away neatly, meaning there are no snags while you're out in the wilderness.

■ Polished packs

Osprey favourites, the super-comfortable Atmos and women's-specific Aura series, have been updated to incorporate the latest technology in backpacks available today. They now include fully-adjustable torso length, and the new Fit-on-the-Fly adjustable hipbelt, with dual-density foam, allows for on-the-go pack adjustment. If you use trekking poles, there's a handy holster which allows storage and retrieval without having to unshoulder the pack. The packs are available in 35, 50 and 65-litre options and retail from $199.95. outdooragencies.com.au
